

Opening:

Class 1 Alarm. Notification: The ship self diagnosis has noticed a critical fault. It is currently on a collision course with the planet Haven. The navigation system has had its course changed to the other side of the planet. And the emergency overrides have been overridden. Without manual human intervention the everyone on board will die. And even more importantly, the Astor (a product of Amazon.com LLC) will be destroyed. Even now there seem to be random failures many of the ship systems and things may be glitchy for a while. Additionally, the ship logs seems to show the Astor (a product of Amazon.com LLC) has been sabotaged, and you are all under contractual obligation to not sabotage the Astor (a product of Amazon.com LLC), as per section 2, subsection 48, clause 32b of the privacy policy you all signed.

Collision in 3 hours. Fix me.
